

DELAWARE COUNTY

Majority for Judgeship is Estimated at 14,000 Over

ELECT CHESTER WOMAN

Judge Isaac Johnson swept Delaware County, as was expected, winning the Judgeship over his nearest competitor, Alexander V. Geary, Democrat, by an estimated majority of 14,000.

Justice William J. Schaffer also ran strong in Delaware County as well as the City of Chester.

The county returns are not in, but the city figures give Judge Johnson 5000, Mr. Geary 2000.

MISS FOSTER GRATIFIED

Thanks Voters for Support
There were 37,340 voters in the city who believed I would make a competent magistrate and, while the number was insufficient to return me a winner, nevertheless, I thank them all for their aid and urge them not to be disappointed.

So declared Miss Katherine K. Foster, defeated Democratic candidate for magistrate, today, as she glanced over the final election returns.

The result does not deter me in the least, she said. "The newspapers have been wonderful to me, and I doubt if I would have made so good a showing if it were not for their support. Hundreds of new voters did their utmost to return me a victor."

"These I think, I am gratified by the huge figure which was rolled up for me."

HYLAN PLURALITY

IN N. Y. 417,986

Mayor Gets Largest Vote Ever

Received by Democratic Candidate in City

CARRIES WHOLE TICKET

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
New York, Nov. 9.—John F. Hylan was re-elected Mayor of New York City yesterday.

He won over Borough President Henry H. Curran, the Republican candidate, by a plurality of 417,986.

The Mayor got the largest vote ever received by a Democratic candidate here. The complete vote in the 2079 districts was: Hylan, 754,574; Curran, 336,588.

The Democratic sweep also carried Mayor Hylan's colleagues on the Democratic ticket, including the Police Commissioner, Charles C. Lockwood, by an estimated plurality of 262,000.

Dock Commissioner Murray Hulbert was elected president of the Board of Aldermen over Vincent Gilroy, the young Democrat who ran on a much less impressive vote.

Charles L. Craig was re-elected Comptroller over Senator Charles C. Lockwood by an estimated plurality of 262,000.

DEMOCRATS AGAIN CONTROL KENTUCKY

Reclaim One State and Increase Hold on Both Houses in Maryland

TO DIE IN KENTUCKY RIOTS

By the Associated Press
New York, Nov. 9.—One State—Kentucky—has passed from Republican to Democratic control as a result of yesterday's elections, as shown in returns available here today.

In Maryland, where the entire lower house of the Legislature and thirteen out of twenty-seven members of the Senate were elected, Democrats increased their control in both houses.

In Kentucky the Democrats regained control of the State Legislature, lost to the Republicans two years ago, and claimed fifty-three out of 100 members of the lower house and nineteen out of thirty-six seats in the Senate.

Returns of two senatorial districts were incomplete this afternoon. Mrs. Mary Flannery, of Catlettsburg, had apparently won the honor of being the first woman to be elected to the Kentucky Legislature.

New Jersey Republicans have elected forty-four Assemblymen out of a total of sixty seats contested, and the party lineup in the Senate will be seven Republicans and five Democrats.

The race and dry issue played a prominent role in that State, the Republican standing for strict enforcement of the State prohibition act, while the Democrats favored its modification or repeal.

Fatal election riots occurred in Kentucky, the centers of disturbance being in Breathitt and Estill counties and in the city of Louisville. Ten persons are reported to have been killed and nearly a score wounded.

The voters of Ohio were heavily in favor of the soldiers' bonus proposal, announced by Secretary of War D. H. Smith, that, in his opinion, it would be carried by 500,000.

HIM BACK IN JAIL

Escaped Holmesburg Convict, Freed From Southern Prison, Voluntarily Returns

WIFE AND CHILDREN WAIT

Harry F. Carr, the only convict ever to have escaped from the county prison at Holmesburg, has through his own voluntary act and desire returned to the institution to serve out a three-year sentence for burglary.

Menthol somewhere in or near Philadelphia a wife and two children are waiting until he can return to them with his transgressions against society expiated in full, and ready to begin life at the trade of a tinsmith.

Carr, who is known otherwise to the police and the District Attorney as Harry Kenner, was released from the W. Watson, was arrested May 20, 1916, for burglary. He was convicted and given a sentence of from two to three years.

When he had been at the prison for four months Carr and a mate discovered a possibility of escape. They had been working in the yard and had managed to hide a pair of pliers in some tall grass. By some fortune the pliers were not missed that night. The next day Carr, his partner in the plan to escape, and other convicts were again at work in the yard.

By another freak of fortune the guards were called back to the building for something. When their backs were turned Carr and company slipped out the hidden pliers and lifted them against the wall. A trusty set up a about.

A guard lifted his rifle, fired and missed. Carr with one leg and one arm in his clothing slid down from the thirty-five feet of wall.

He lost no time in getting to a railroad track and jumping on the first freight train that came along. Carr was found three days later in Chattanooga, Tenn. He was cold and hungry. He waited for night and broke into a store.

He was captured in the act and got a ten-year sentence.

He served five years of this sentence, learning in the meanwhile the trade of a tinsmith. He behaved so well that he obtained a recommendation for parole.

The Governor of Tennessee agreed that Carr should be discharged at the first of this month, but Carr told the Governor that he was wanted in Philadelphia, and was anxious to square himself there so that he might return to his family.

He could do nothing else but notify Philadelphia police.

Accordingly detectives from Philadelphia were waiting for Carr as he stepped from the door of the penitentiary at Chattanooga.

FACE NEW PUZZLE IN PARKING RULE

Autos Clog West Walnut Street and Business Men Complain to Mayor

MOORE MAY FINE CARNEY

The latest development in the traffic puzzle is a petition which Mayor Moore received this morning, signed by prominent residents and professional men of Walnut street west of Seventeenth.

They complain that the new parking system is working a hardship upon them by causing long lines of cars to be parked in their neighborhood, just outside of the restricted zone.

It is alleged in the petition that Walnut street, west of Seventeenth, is choked with cars that are there for hours at a time that it causes a serious inconvenience to the residents and shopkeepers of that district.

The Mayor turned the matter over to Superintendent Mills. Superintendent Mills has announced that the new anti-parking ordinance will not be strictly enforced for at least ten days. In that time the police will arrange the plans for putting the measure into effect. He said that it is only fair to motorists to have proper warning of the banned area.

In the meantime, however, the feud between Mayor Moore and Magistrate Carney goes on apace. Magistrate Carney was a sufferer recently from the zeal of the traffic police in carrying out the provisions of the new ordinance and he retaliated by summoning the Mayor to appear before him tomorrow morning for a similar infraction of the rules.

Mayor May Fine Carney

Should the Magistrate insist upon exercising his prerogative of having the Mayor appear personally at the hearing to which both he and his chauffeur have been summoned, the Mayor may in turn exercise his right to sit in judgment as Chief Magistrate upon Magistrate Carney, and fine him as a traffic law violator.

"We have so many charges against Magistrate Carney for violating the traffic parking rules," said Superintendent Mills, "that the Mayor may fine the Carney as much as $225."

On the other hand, Magistrate Carney cannot fine the Mayor more than $5, and the Mayor may fine the maximum penalty for a first offense.

"I will arrest Carney on sight," said Director Corley, "if he attempts to interfere in any way with my automobile."

The prevailing opinion in City Hall today is that the Mayor will simply ignore both Magistrate Carney and his summons.

WREATH SENT MRS. HARDING

Tribute of Phila. War Mothers to Be Put on Hero's Grave

The Northeast Chapter of the National American War Mothers of Philadelphia has received a letter from Mrs. Warren G. Harding's secretary expressing Mrs. Harding's regret that she will be unable to place the wreath sent by the local chapter on the unknown soldier's grave Armistice Day. The letter reads:

Mrs. Harding asks me to say in response to your letter that arrangements have been made for placing the wreath sent by war mothers and she will gladly see that the one you sent is given to the proper person, who will perform the ceremony. But as this has been arranged by the War Department she could not do it herself. However, she hopes to be present at the ceremony.

REPUBLICANS KEEP CONTROL IN JERSEY

Democrats Gain Fifteen Seats in Assembly—Mrs. Van Ness Suffers Defeat

STATE BOND ISSUE BEATEN

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
Trenton, Nov. 9.—Virtually completed returns from yesterday's election in New Jersey for the Legislature show that the Republicans have control of the Assembly by a majority of twenty-eight, and the Senate by a majority of eleven, making a margin of thirty-nine on joint ballot, thus insuring the reelection of William T. Reed, of Camden, as State Treasurer and continued control of the State House Commission.

The new House will be forty-four Republicans and sixteen Democrats, the Senate sixteen Republicans to five Democrats.

The Assembly delegation will consist of eleven Republicans and one Democrat, the defeated Republican being Mrs. Jennie C. Van Ness, of Newark, introduced by the Van Ness State Prohibition Executive Act, on which the chief issue of the campaign hinged.

The fight made against Mrs. Van Ness was bitter. Speaker of the House John H. Johnson, who is active in passing through the Van Ness act, was re-elected, as was also Mrs. Margaret Laid, Republican, who is active in the Van Ness act.

Approximately 95 per cent of the city's 1,265,940 registered voters, which included 447,015 women, went to the polls. The Democrats won the election. The Democrats won the election. The Democrats won the election.

The Democrats gained fifteen seats in the Assembly and the Republicans gained one seat in the upper house.

The Democrats ran on a State platform for the modification or repeal of the Van Ness act. The Republican candidate, Mrs. Van Ness, stood for upholding this law, which was passed last year by a Republican Legislature, and which was said to be one of the most drastic enforcement acts of any State.

Returns indicate that the $14,000,000 bond issue for maintenance of the State institutions for a period of ten years was defeated. Hudson County was strongly against the issue, while in Essex the issue was treated lightly because of the fight against the Republican candidate who reported that 60 per cent of the voters in Essex voted against it.

Halving the support of the measure was Atlantic County, Camden being in favor of the bond issue with a majority of 25,000. The vote for the bond issue in Camden and Cape May Counties was reported as follows:

In Gloucester County the issue was defeated. The same fate was meted out to the project in Somerset County by a vote of 10,000 to 5,000. In Burlington County, and according to late reports, the proposition there was lost by a vote of 5,000 to 2,000.

In Hudson all twelve Democrats were elected to the Assembly, including one woman. In Essex the Assembly Republicans defeated the Democrats. In Hudson all twelve Democrats were elected to the Assembly, including one woman.
